2022 U.S. High School Stats

Clay target shooting is the fastest growing high school sport in the United States. In fact, last year there were over 43,000 students across the nation participating. In Kansas alone there were over 100 high schools and over 1500 students participating!

Clay target shooting offers students the opportunity to compete in a competitive sport, regardless of athletic ability, gender, or physical disability. It requires self discipline, focus, and practice to excel but the best part about the sport is that it's so much fun!
