Our Services

Strategic Planning

Strategic planning is a systematic process through which an organization agrees on—and builds commitment among key stakeholders to—priorities that are essential to its mission and are responsive to the environment. Strategic planning guides the acquisition and allocation of resources to achieve these priorities.

How we do it?

- Collecting perception of internal and external stakeholders regarding an organization's Strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats
- Collecting empirical data to better understand the choices to be made
- Assessing the program portfolio and planning for future growth strategies

Training & Capacity Building

We provide innovative solutions for Training programs on governance, service delivery and livelihood-related issues. Our trainers have expertise in transparency and Right to information, Budget analysis & advocacy, result-based management, and Monitoring & Evaluation, procurement, and resource mobilization. We also champion the paperless environment during training workshops. We call it green training.

Project Evaluation

Our Program evaluations are conducted not only to explore whether a project had worked, but also to improve the way it works. We employ a rigorous, robust, and comprehensive approach to determine the worth of a program and to guide management, program practitioners, and stakeholders towards more effective programs, and a better knowledge of what works.

We adhere to the OECD's six principles of evaluation: Coherence, Efficiency, Sustainability, Impact, Effectiveness and Relevance. We also comply with the UN ethics and norms of project evaluation:

Monitoring

Our services include development and revision of Log frame/ Result Framework, development of the MEAL framework, operationalizing the MEAL plan, Information Management and data analysis, monitoring of field activities, periodic reporting on monitoring, meetings with program staff to discuss the project progress and mutually agreed solution if the project is deviating from the path, or if the re-structuring is required.

We also provide services to foreign agencies that do not maintain offices in Pakistan and implement the project through local implementing partners.
